THE STEAMSHIP WASHINGTON. We have received two very lengthy communications fetalling the incidents of voyage of the steamship Washington, which was despatched from this city in December last by the Atlantic and Pacific Ship Canal Company, with pas sengers for California. She was to connect with the Heran at Aspinwall, or in event of failure to connect, was o proceed to San Francisco by the Straits of Magellan the latter reute was eventually taken. The communica

The latter reute was eventually taken. The communica-tions sent to us are severe in condemnation of the way in which the ship was managed during her voyage. It is said that neither the captain nor any of the chief officers had ever before done duty on a steamer, and the conduct of the captain is represented as being coarse, tyramical and unefficer like.

One of the communications is written from Valparaiso de Chile, where the Washington had put in, the captain being out of funds, and where he advertised for proposals to lead him $14.000 on a bottomry hond. Speaking of the revolutionary movements there, the defeat of Gallo, the revolutionary the captain the captain the captain the captain the captai

An old shipmaster writes from Fairfield, Iewa, an acat of the precautions taken by him in 1851, while his el was at Rio Janeiro, to avoid yellow fever, which was then alarmingly fatal at that port. He says that befere proceeding to the loading ground the vessel was thoroughly cleansed in the lower held by using large quantities of water, and pumped out dry, which was reposted until all the stagmant bilge water was removed;
than the entire ship inside was whitewashed and chloride of lime used about the air streaks, which made the ship perfectly sweet. In addition to this, he had the carge laken in by men from the shore, and did not allow any of the circw to be kept in the sun and rain, with positive orders that no one should be allowed to sleep upon deek to light. The result was that not a man was sick either at Rio er during the passage home, and the carge was on board and ready for sea la six days from the commencement.

a correspondent writing from Detroit, Michigan, contraa statement in a communication published in the BERALD, to the effect that Arizona is good for nothing else an mining, there being no permanent river or brook in and all the water being brackish and unhealthy. He says the waters, with a few exceptions, are pure and healthy, particularly those in the monotains or mining re-gions, and that as for permanent water, it is well known that the San Pedro, Glia, Barbacomeri and Sonoyta rivers, besides many brooks, are permanent; also a great portion of the Santa Cruz river. He says also that the country is remarkable for its immense fields of pasture, or herding grounds, which was once, in the time of the Jesuits, covered with thousands upon thousands of cattle.

A German citizen writes to us as follows:- I have learn ed with regret that your opinion of the German citizens i. that the Germans have a predilection for Austria, conse-quently a predilection for Austrian tyranny. I hereby declare that it is the sincere wish of a great majority of Germans, except the Jesuits and the organ of Pater O——that the tyrancy of Austria might be at an end and the liberty of Italy a certainty. Every German must feel ashamed to have any predilection for Austrian tyranny, as the German wante a free constitution. Almost every German who comes to this country abonimates tyranny and endeavors to enjoy full liberty. It cannot be possible that the same German who aims at that enjoyment can sympathies with Austrian tyranny. It cannot to lipure the German latherman of Italy will be made free, as it is well known that the Germans have made revolution for liberty, but for tyranny. It cannot deny that editors of German newspapers sympathies with Austria. Why, you will find out yourself. I will hereby only declare that a large portion of Germans do not sympathize with Austria, consequently with Austrian tyranny. Any German who would go to a free country, while sympathizing with tyranny, ought to be driven away at his landing, as a person until for "this land of the free and home of the brave." The great Emperor of France will be in verify the liberator of Italy. I do not believe that he at any time has had any intention to conquer Italy. I regard him as too great and too prudent to do no. When he has made ensmises to his government, this is no proof of his being an enemy to the liberty and happiness of nations; he could not not otherwise if he would be in the end the liberator of Italy and other canlaved States. Sound policy demanded such as course. clare that it is the sincere wish of a great majority of Ger

The editor or editors of the HERAD and its readers may besse all wonder and surmise on this subject. The Catholic church is always loyal in temporal matters to the government under which she lives, be it monarchial or republican. It is one of her fundamental principles, and were it possible that the Prpal government should make war on the United States, the entire Catholic church in this country would offer up prayers for the success of American arms, as it did in the Mexican war. There is a spirit of misrepresentation which characterizes most of the English and American press and their correspondents relative to the Papal government and the church, which is as unject as it is unprincipled.

The taxes of the Roman government, in proportion to its extent, are less than any other civilized nation; and, according to the statistics recently taken by Mr. Bowyer, Member of Parliament, crime, in comparison with other countries, is more nominal. Aris and manufactures are liberally encouraged; and, so far from the people being governed by priests, nearly all the government offices are held by laymen. The people having few wants would be the happiest in the world were it not for outside fire brands and anarchists, who would gladify turn the Vational into a signer beer saloun, and run a railroad through the Collissum, all under the cry of propress and civilization. The worthless paper currency which the brigands Mazzini and Garibaidi im posed on the Roman people during their short reign of the Papal government. Where is there another monarch who would have done as much for his people? and yet we hear the Protestant world, other through ignorance or prejudice, or both, constantly harping on the siavish despotism of the Papal government. Where is there as better for the Halian propose. Where is there as better for the Halian proposed on on never will edjoy under growning axistion. Thus world have done as much for his people? A NEW YORK GAS COMPANY IN CHICAGO BOUST

A party of New Yorkers, after wasting six months of their precious time at Chicago in trying to organise a new gas company, finally got a charter from the City Council, and then fell out with the Mayer, who then their precious time at Chicago in bying to organise a new gas company, facily get a charter from the Chip Cauncil, and then fell out with the Mayer, who then veteed the bill, and thus cut off their bright prospective. They now come out in a long pamphlet and declare that he veloed it because they refused to buy $5,000 worth of doubtful copper stock from the Mayor at $1,000 cash. They don't seem to have understood the game of "I'll tickle you if you'll tickle me." The Mayor, whose name is John Copperstock Haines." The charter was considered an worth half a million of dollars by outsiders, and as now worth half a million of dollars by outsiders, and as now worth half a million of dollars by outsiders, and as now word the familion of dollars by outsiders, and the most rapid extent.
